Proposition-

In the action plan shown in the context of National Academic Day 1686 free education has been stressed. Thereafter, there are many of the admissions experts, institutes have played a Remarkable Role of Individual Distance Education and Free Education

Many countries have recognized the need of free education and the need for free education has been accepted

The Ministry of Human Resource Development, Ministry of National Development (National Institute of National Institutes of Open Schooling - NIOS), has laid the foundations of free education in 1686 by establishing an independent system,

At present, the National Institutes of Educational Research and Training (NABH) are divided into 11 divisions, three sub-divisional centers, three thousand Associate Organizations (AIS) and Financial Institutions (AVIS) are working. The network of these three thousand centers is spread across India Nepal and the Middle East. Keeping, the total geographical scope of the country and considering the necessity of the welfare of the states, the states also need to make efforts to reach level for the National Institutes of Education (NIOS), the states are being encouraged and guided for the same. Currently in the country, there are 15 state schools and one national school in the country.

The education strengthens the foundation of man's thinking. It is a continuous process which helps to remove all obstacles faced in the learning process. It improves and has an important contribution to improve. It is eminent that all minor children should have basic education.

For this, many schemes are implemented in the state. Still many students have unable to procure education. Some handicap students are unable to get formal education in mainstream schools.

The need of the hour is too make available many subject options for formal education.

The current journey for students from the state, from 1st to Class 10 has been very challenging and has resulted in phased drop-outs. In this case, the number of girl dropouts is also significant
